"WHY CANNOT ONE WRITE IN COLORS!"

Most Unmistakable is the Affection and Loyalty of the Crowd-The Czar Handsome and Manly-The Czarina "a Marble Saint Within a Golden Sprine"-A Manifestation Unparalleled.

LONDON, May 23.-Sir Edwin Arnold, who went to Moscow on behalf of the Daily Telegraph, in his dispatch to that paper, describing the scene at the Kremlin and the entry of the czar into Moscow, says:

"Why cannot one write in colors? There was never anything seen on any stage like the living kaleidoscope of fanciful attire, or fantastic hues and embellishment visible around me, particularly in the oriental element, and all the far eastern nations.

"The officials from Khiva wore many colored velvet robes, gold embroldered and sugar loaf hats.

NEW YORK, May 22.- A special to the Herald from Caracas, Venezuela, says: The big whisky concession granted to an American syndicate has been confirmed by the Venezuelan congress. The syndicate will be allowed to import machinery and raw materials free of customs duties.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERS.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 22.-Yesterday's session of the American Mechanical Engineers society was taken up with the discussion of the western river steamboat. This was the largest meet-ing since the opening of the convention. A number of papers were read, and at 2 o'clock the delegates boarded a steamer for the Chain of Rocks, to view the St. Louis water works.

MAGNANIMITY IN WAR.

Rev. Robert Wilson, of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, says; In 1883 I met in Richmond a Colonel McCoy, of Pennsylvania, who had been a gallant wearer of the blue, We got quite chummy over a 'mixed wood' came fire, and, wishing to put him at ease, I told him the story of Kershaw's magnificent reconnoissance at Fredericksburg, which can never be too often repeated. An orderly had arrived in hot haste with a command for General Kershaw to have the enemy recommoltered at all hazards from a knoll which was swept by the fire of the sharpshooters of both armies. Every bush and tree had been cut away by the storm of bulieus, and it looked like certain death to the man who should attempt it. Calmiy singing his field glass, and turning over his command to the next officer in rank, Joseph B. Kershaw rode slowly up to the death trap, into which we would not send any other man. The sight of his heroic action, as he sat amid the whisting minnies, sweeping the An orderly had arrived in hot haste with The sight of his heroic action, as he sat amid the whistling minnies, sweeping the opposing ranks with his glass, was too much for the chivalry of the Yankee commander, and the order went down the Federal line: Cease firing on that officer? The riles became sheart, the reconnoissance was fimished and, raising his cap in acknowledgment, General Kershaw quietly rode back at a walk, unharms;

"It was a splendld incident," remarked "It was a splendid incident," remarked Colonet McCoy, "but I can climax it with a personal experience of the chivalrous disposition of your men. I was on General Meade's staff near Richmond, and one morning, with the general at our head, we rode down to take a look at the river. As we turned sharply out of the bushes and came out on the bank, we found ourselves in point blank range of a Confederate picket drawn up on the other side. A volley would have empried every saddle, for we were entirely at their mercy; but it would have been murder, for they could not cross and capture us. Recognizing General Meade, the commander of the detachment ordered his men into line and they presented arms. We raised our caps in grateful acknowledgement, rode slowly back into the bushes and, as soon as wewers fairly out of sight, put sput to our horses and scudded back to the camp as if the devil was after us."—Charleston (S. A nervous condition, bordering on prostration, to which the doctors have not as yet given a name, has lately been observed to affect persons who work many hours a day high up in the modern sky scrapers. The aiment, says the New York Journal, resembles nervous prostration, except in the principal symptom, which is a condition of intense restless ness, and, as one of the victims to the new complaint expressed it, "a singular desire to scream or to get down to the earth quickly."

A sensation of relief is noticeable when the patient is taken to grass, so to speak, which leads some physicians to the belief that the change in the rarrity of the air, slight as it is has a peculiar effect upon certain very sensitive organizations. Others think that the constant trips in the elevators cause a slight disarrangement of the nerve centers, which brings on the condition referred to. In any case there is no doubt that a new aliment has come among us with the advent of the sky scraper. A nervous condition, bordering on pr

SCRATCH SCREAM

My baby broke out with a rash. He would senatch and scream. It would take two to hold him, and one to put medicipe on him. We had to hold him sometimes as hour before we could get him quieted down. All said that they never saw such a face or body on any baby as on him. I had to the his hands tight in a cloth, night and day, for five months. My slater had used CUTI-CURA, and I began to use it. After only one opplication, he ley down and sleptas he had not for a month, poor little fellow. He has not a complication, he ley down and sleptas he had not for a month, poor little fellow. He has not a complication, he ley down and its flesh is as soft as any baby. While he had this discuse I had to cent the sleeves out of his clothes, and put gaure underwear on him to keep him cool. I had to keep places of soft cloth around his neck, it was so well with moisture from the sores, and I had to change the cloths sometimes ten or welve times a day. Mass. A. HANNES, Lisbon, N. D. THEY HAVE TO HAVE IT.

Some time ago there was considerable talk of the Evening Press being en larged and put in shape to offer the much needed defense of Republican principles and candidates at the forthcoming election. Of late the talk has subsided, and the impression got abroad that the party would go into the battle without an organ to pub-lish culories of its numerous states-men who will come up for office this fall. However, this is not so, as The Herald can state postively that a num-ber of the most active Republicans, re-alizing the desperateness of the situaalizing the desperateness of the situation, have been induced to give liberally of their shekels to the enterprise. The local sheet of last evening editorially says that non-partisanship in school elections will be the rule in Utah county this year, and it further says, "that is as it should be. Why carry politics into purely business af-fairs?" This would be all right if it stopped there; but on another page the editor forgets himself and fairly gleats over the fact that a Democrat had resigned his position in the asy-ium, to make a place for a Republican ward heeler. It says that institution would be better off should all of the old 'gang resign, (meaning Demo-crats) that their places would be filled by Republicans. This is about as con-sistent as the rule or ruin rag ever was known to be.
